Case Study

Customer case study - full design, supply & Installation of a totally refurbished office building

In 2013 Premier Equine underwent a huge refurbishment in Goxhill North Lincolnshire. Part of the project would require brand new office furniture with a design layout, install and staff training their staff on the functionalities of the office equipment.

Once the install was complete and safety checked, our staff trained the team at Premier Equine, on the full functionalities of their office equipment. A lot goes in to making an office chair comfortable and in the correct position for people with different postures. Once Premier Equine and ourselves were happy with everything, we left the site in a clean and tidy fashion and will always be at the end of the phone for any support they may require.

The whole project was 2 years long. Premier Equine are happy and settled in their fully functioning office space. With brand new office furniture and equipment, fully trained on how to get the very best comfort out of all their new products.

We are in love with our new facilities, the chairs and designs are excellent! I wanted to let you know that you have a bunch of happy people working for you. Your man Dwane is an absolute credit, a rare breed.
